Departure of Steamers.

FOR COLLINGWOOD AND THE EAST.

The Collingwood line of screw steamers leave every day, from Dousman's dock, foot of East Water st., connecting at Collingwood with cars from the East.

FOR BUFFALO.

Screw steamers, with good accommodations for passengers, leave the different transportation docks every day for Buffalo.

FOR PORT WASHINGTON, &c.

The Steamer Gazelle leaves Johnson & Olmsted's Dock at 5 o'clock in the morning, for Port Washington, Sheboygan, Manitowoc and Two Rivers.

FOR CHICAGO, &c.

The steamer Traveller leaves Johnson & Olmsted's Dock every evening, at 5 o'clock, for Chicago and intermediate ports.

Difference of Exchange.

At St. Louis Exchange on New York is selling at one-half per cent. premium, while here and at Chicago it has ranged of late from two to two and a half per cent. The merchants of Milwaukee and Chicago purchase most of their goods in New York, as do also those of St. Louis, and both of them are competitors as well with the latter as each other, for the Western trade. But the low price of exchange at St. Louis, gives the merchants of that city a decided advantage over those of Milwaukee and Chicago, they having to sell goods as cheap as St. Louis in order to compete with that city for the trade of the Mississippi valley, and at the same time bear the enormous burthen of the difference between the rates of Exchange, generally one and a half or two per cent. against Milwaukee and Chicago.

This two per cent. is no small item, and it is telling fatally upon the business interests of both cities. The Chicago people, and press are complaining bitterly of this, but they do not seem to know of any practical remedy for the evil. But while it may be difficult to devise a cure, it is not hard to see the cause of the disease. At St. Louis our currency, as well as that of Illinois, is at a heavy discount. This is the result of its unconvertible character. If our currency were par at St. Louis, then exchange here would be as cheap as there, or very nearly so. Now the means to obtain this end, in our mind, is to compel the banks of issue to place their currency on a redeemable footing, or else "shut up shop," and the question as to how long the present state of things will continue, depends, we think, upon how long the business community will tolerate the burthen that now weighs down upon them with the oppression of an incubus.

But it may be asked, how are you going to compel the banks to give us good currency? Well, we answer, that as there is scarcely a probability of our having to resort to any extreme measures in this State, it is not necessary for us to devise any plan for the purpose. Wild-Cat banking has seen its palmiest days in Wisconsin, and the history of the past year shows that it is concentrating itself upon the more congenial soil of our immediate Southern neighbors. This is a question which it will be very soon necessary for them to consider.

Our bankers, or a majority of them, at least, seem disposed to do all they can to place our currency on a reliable basis, and thus remove the inconvenience which the people are now suffering from its inconvertibility. The project, at present under consideration, of establishing a Mutual Redemption Bank, at which all the bank bills of the State would be always redeemable in exchange on New Yorkat a reasonable rate if carried out, will do much towards this end.—But the great obstacle in the way of this plan is the currency of Illinois, which, because it is irredeemable, will take the place of our redeemable currency as a circulating medium, so long as our people will continue to take it at par. It is the wild cat currency of Illinois, more than any other cause, that has brought about the present high rates of exchange. The remedy is therefore in the hands of the people, and in case the responsible bankers of Illinois refuse to co-operate with those of Wisconsin in placing the currency of both States on a redeemable footing, we trust that the people and the interior banks will see the necessity, in self-protection, of refusing Illinois money, except at such a discount as will keep it from taking the place of our own currency.

National Horse Exhibition.

We have received the programme of the second National Exhibition of improved blood and American breed of horses which is to be held at Kalamazoo, Michigan, on the 11th, 12th, 13th and 14th of October. The premium list consists of sixty-four prizes; the largest prize is $200, the smallest $10 and the aggregate $3,000, open to the competition of exhibitors from the Canadas and other British Provinces. All entries of stock must be made before 9 o'clock, P. M., October 10th. The Great Western, Michigan Central, M. S. & N. Indiana, Toledo & Wabash and the Detroit & Milwaukee Railways will carry horses and grooms free, and passengers at half price to the Fair, and the Chicago, Alton & St. Louis road, horses and passengers at half fare.

Persons who desire to make entries for premiums are requested to notify the Secretary, Geo. H. Kidder, at Kalamazoo, on or before the 1st of October. Last year the exhibition was quite successful, attracting a very large number of visitors, and it will doubtless be equally so this year.

Democratic State Convention.—The Democracy of Ozaukee County have elected Fred. Horn, W. F. Opitz, Lion Silverman, and J. R. Bohan, as their Delegates to the State Convention.

The Ozaukee Democrats at their town caucus, passed the following resolution for the benefit of Collector Clason:

Resolved, That while we have no personal objections to the present incumbent, we regard the importation of a candidate for the office of Deputy Collector as a wanton and uncalled for insult from the Collector of the Port of Milwaukee to the Democracy of this County.

In our money column will be found a statement of the business we have been doing at this port in foreign dry goods for the current month. The totals compared with the previous two seasons stand thus:

1861.....	$66,716,398
1858.....	20,159,393
1860.....	11,781,985

These figures show how soon Flora McFlimsey has forgotten all about the panic her extravagances helped so much to bring on two years ago, and how ready she is with her silks, satins and velvets, to go it blind, and to "go it with a rush" again. Seventy-one millions worth of dry goods in seven months! "Nothing to Wear," indeed!—N. Y. Express.

North Carolina Election.

In North Carolina the Opposition have gained two Members of Congress—Henry M. Shaw having been beaten by W. N. H. Smith in the 1st District, and A. M. Scales by J. M. Leach in the 6th District. Thos. Ruffin, to whom there was no opposition Warren Winslow, whose only opponent was Col. M. Y. McDuffie; L. O. B. Branch, whose majority over Levin B. Sanders (Opp.) is 3,302, and Burton Craig, by about 1,200 majority over L. H. Walker (Opp.) all Democrats, are re-elected in the 2nd, 3rd, 4th, and 7th Districts, respectively. In the 5th District, John A. Gilmer (Opp.) is re-elected by a largely increased majority over two opponents. The 8th District has re-elected Zebulon B. Vance over David Coleman by from 2,000 to 3,000 majority. In most, if not all the Districts, the Democratic majorities are diminished, and the Oppositiom majorities increased.

The North Carolina (Raleigh) Standard, of August 10th, says:

We deeply regret the defeat of Messrs. Shaw, Scales, Williams and Coleman. We confess we felt almost sure of the election of the two former, and entertained strong hopes of the success of the two latter.

The delegation of the next Congress will most probably stand four Democrats to four Oppositionists—a Democratic loss of two.

The Whigs and Know-Nothings of the District have deliberately and unequivocally endorsed Mr. Gilmer's affiliation with the Black Republicans.

The delegation, as compared with the last, will, according to the present aspect of matters, stand thus:

XXX VTH CONGRESS.	XXXVITH CONGRESS.
1. Henry M. Shaw,	W. N. H. Smith,
2. Thomas Ruffin,	Thomas Ruffin,
3. Warren Winslow,	Warren Winslow,
4. L. O'Brien Branch,	L. O'Brien Branch,
5. John A. Gilmer,	John A. Gilmer,
6. Alfred M. Scales,	J. M. Leach,
7. Burton Craige,	Burton Craige,
8. Z. B. Vance,	Z. B. Vance.

Kentucky.—The delegation to the next Congress from Kentucky is now corrected, as compared with the last Congress, as follows. We reprint the table because of an error in one District:

District.	XXXVth Congress.	XXXVIth Congress.
1	Henry C. Burnett.	Henry C. Burnett.
2	Samuel O. Peyton.	Samuel O. Peyton.
3	Wm. L. Underwood.	Frank M. Bristow.
4	Albert C. Talbott.	Wm. C. Anderson.
5	Joshua H. Jewett.	J. Young Brown.
6	John M. Elliott.	Green Adams.
7	Humphrey Marshall.	Robert Mallory.
8	James B. Clay.	Wm. E. Simms.
9	John C. Mason.	Lazar T. Moore.
10	Jno. W. Stevenson	Jno. W. Stevenson

(Democrats in Roman—Opposition in Small Capitals.)

A tie vote was reported in the IVth District, but the Louisville Journal of the 10th inst., says that a dispatch received from that office of the Secretary of State, on the evening previous, announces that the returns from all counties in the IVth Congressional District had been received, and that Anderson, Opposition, has been elected by three majority.

The Political "Assassins and Conspirators" of New York.

The following are the closing sentences of a long article in the Richmond Enquirer on the theft of the Wise letter to Donnelly:

And now Messieurs Assassins and Conspirators, what have you done?

Imprimis. All Mr. Buchanan's aspirations for re-nomination are knocked into a cocked hat.

Second. Squatter Sovereignty has received the severest blow it has yet encountered. A voice which cannot be mistaken in its import, has been elicited to proclaim that Senator Douglas cannot be nominated, or if nominated, cannot be elected.

Per contra. The assassin's dagger has only glanced from the corselet of truth which shields the breast of an honest man. In a breath, he has brought to his feet the traitors who have sought his ruin. New York swindlers have been taught how much power rests in the unaided truth and pluck of a single Virginia statesman. Poor tricksters! fools that dared to dream the Hon could not break through the puny toils they have learned to set for foxes and hyenas! Will they carry a packed delegation from New York to Charleston now? Suppose they do. Suppose they go in spite of popular indignation. Can their packed ranks withstand the moral influence of Virginia chivalry representing the pride of fair election and voluntary unity? * * * * *

Moreover, there is a big, indignant heart in the popular breast—one that scorns treachery—especially impotent and thwarted conspiracy. No where does such a heart beat stronger than in Virginia; and the New York conspiracy is the best blow that could have been stricken towards ensuring the unit vote of Virginia, at Charleston, for Gov. Wise's nomination to the Presidency.

A Living Head on a Dead Body.—The Richmond Evening News vouches for the authenticity of the following:

Mr. Archibald Campbell, a respectable farmer in the township of Camden, East, while engaged in finishing a new dwelling on his premises, the scaffold gave way, and he was precipitated head foremost to the ground and dislocated his neck, but very fortunately and mysteriously, it did not kill him. When his head was brought to its proper position, the vertebræ of the neck returned to their place with a dull, but distinct snap. The whole body is paralyzed and dead from the neck downwards. He is not capable of moving a muscle or experiencing the slightest pain.—Fortunately the nerves supplying the muscles used in respiration were not paralyzed, and he can breathe and live. Had the injury of the spinal cord been drawn a little higher, he would have died immediately. The senses of sight, hearing, smelling, &c., are normal and his intellect unimpaired. Mr. Campbell has been for a number of years the victim of a series of misfortunes; but the last misfortune is more intolerable than any of its predecessors. There he lies, a strange and remarkable specimen of a living head on a dead body, with a full consciousness of his unenviable position. When last heard from, however, there were some indications of a return of sensation, and the power of motion, and it is just possible that he might partially recover.

Cure for Hydrophobia and Poisonous Snake Bites.—There have been a multitude of remedies published for hydrophobia and for bites from poisonous snakes; but the medical faculty, have not found any of them infallible. This is particularly true of hydrophobia—the most terrible malady with which the human frame can be afflicted. It has, we believe, become to be conceded that profuse draughts of ardent spirits, if promptly taken, will, in most cases, prevent any fatal result from rattle-snake bites; but hydrophobia is still held to be incurable. We have no hesitation, therefore, in publishing the following, because, even if the recipe given shall not prove all that is claimed, a trial can do no harm:

ALBANY, August 13, 1859.

To the Editors of the Evening Journal:—

In perusing this morning's paper, I observed a case of hydrophobia, which thus far has been a stumbling block for physicians in general to overcome. I feel in duty bound, gentlemen, as I am in possession of an infallible remedy for that most to be lamented disease, here to make it public, especially when attended with scarcely any expense, hoping those afflicted will make timely use of it:

Recipe.—Dissolve a pint of common table salt in a pint of boiling water, scarify the part affected freely, then apply the salt water with a cloth as warm as the patient can bear it, repeating the same for at least an hour.

The recipe has been successfully applied for the bite of rattlesnakes. Hoping thus to be instrumental in resuming human life,

I am, gentlemen, yours most respectfully,
RENATUS BACHMANN.

Sudden Death.—Mr. Jacob Foss died very suddenly at the Wausau House, on Saturday afternoon last. The deceased had been suffering for several weeks with disease of the heart, and was attended by Drs. Thayler and Wylie; he was being fast restored to health, as he thought, and the morning before his death he arose very early for morning exercise; and remarked that he felt much better, and that in a shorttime he would be able to start for home and see his friends; he ate a hearty dinner, and shortly after laid down to take a sleep; about 4 o'clock he was called to take some medicine, but no answer. On entering his room he was found in a half sitting posture upon the side of the bed with his head leaning on a table in front.—Mr. Paff took hold of him to wake him up, but Mr. Foss was no more.

Mr. Foss is a native of Maine, where he has friends, and has two brothers at or near Milwaukee, and is about 28 years of age.—Central Wisconsin, Wausau, August 16.

THE CITY.

SENTINEL READING ROOM.

We have opened in connection with our new Counting Room, 207 East Water st., a Reading Department, where all the leading Daily Papers in the United States and Canada are regularly placed on file, for the benefit of those who may wish to see them. Strangers visiting the city are invited to avail themselves of our "Free Reading Room" at their pleasure.

Preparations to Receive the New Steamers.

A meeting of citizens took place last evening, at the Newhall, to make preparations for the reception of the new steamers expected from Buffalo next Saturday week. A Committee consisting of Messrs. Wall, Brumer, Devlin, Nazro, Crocker and Holland were appointed to make the necessary arrangements.

A despatch was received by H. O. Wilson yesterday, stating that the boats will leave Buffalo next Monday, arriving here on Friday or Saturday. A large company of distinguished guests will accompany them, and it is desirable that the city of Milwaukee should extend such a reception as the occasion demands.

The placing of these elegant steamers on the Detroit and Milwaukee route is in itself an event of no small magnitude, and the interest felt in the route by all classes of the community will never have a better occasion for manifesting itself than on their arrival.

The Committee will wait on the citizens today, and solicit subscriptions to enable them to complete their arrangements. We trust there will be no lack of unity among our business men, in pushing the thing forward as it deserves. We expect to see a demonstration that will accord with the event, and do honor to our community.

Another Habeas Corpus Case.

Another offender, committed to jail by the Municipal Court, was yesterday taken before Judge Smith, of the County Court, on a writ of habeas corpus and discharged from custody on the same grounds as in the case of Michael McCormick, viz: that the Municipal Court is unconstitutional and has no right to act as a Court. Thus, what one Court does, the other undoes, and so it will be likely to continue, more or less, until the question is settled by the Supreme Court. Regarding the Municipal Court as unconstitutional in accordance with the late decision of the Supreme Court which we published yesterday, Judge Smith can pursue no other course than that he has taken. This state of things, it is evident, should not be permitted to continue, and we hope no time will be lost in obtaining a decision from the Supreme Court on the subject.

Interesting.—To see a stout, brawny woman arrayed in silks, with her features carefully guarded by a parasol, daintily held in her hand, tripping her way along the sidewalk, and her little girl about four years old, struggling along behind her in the hot sun, with a carpet bag nearly as large as the child. Such a case is very suggestive.—Free Democrat.

More So.—To meet two excessively stout women in full expansion and endeavor to get past them without injury, and which ever way you dodge they insanely do the same, until in desperation you attempt to pass between them, and get the point of an umbrella, (which one of them carries under her arm,) neatly inserted in your eye, by her attempts to get out of the way.

Municipal Court—His Honor, Judge Foote, Presiding.—Tuesday, August 16.—John Vance, disorderly, penalty and costs $6,35, or fifteen days in jail. Committed.

Augusta W. Brand, disorderly—penalty and costs $8,29, or 20 days in jail—committed.

Henry Breidert, assault and battery, fine and costs $10,69.

A Floral Thief.—Leopold Radkte, charged with robbing gardens of their flowers, was himself nipped in the bud yesterday, and it being proved that he was a pink of perfection in the stealing art, he was sentenced to be transplanted for thirty days. It would not be difficult for Leopold to designate the roots of all (his) evil.

Domestic Scene.—Fond Mother—to Moral Father—James there's Susan reading the paper, as sure as I live.

Moral Father, (agitated.)—Is it possible? It may be the evening paper.

Fond Mother—Heavens! and the Wisconsin!

Father—Quick, take it from her. Hereafter have the carrier leave the Wisconsin at my office.

☞Fact—upon honor.

Wait a Little Longer.—This week there will be an arrival. The arrival will take place at Davis' Dry Goods Emporium. The arrival will consist of an entirely new and splendid stock of goods selected with a due appreciation of the superior taste of the ladies of Milwaukee. The arrival will be duly announced. Let no one get excited; there will be enough for all, and every convenience will be offered to the immense crowd.

Excursion.—Yesterday a very pleasant excursion trip was made to Oconomowoc by a select party of about one hundred from this city. They reported themselves last evening all the better for the jaunt, having floated about on the lake at the above place, and captured a certain number of fishes, and enjoyed themselves with their ladies charmingly.

This morning Ogden & Wall will sell a farm with all its improvements, in front of the Land Office, corner of Michigan and East Water street, containing two hundred acres in Juneau Co., Wisconsin, at public auction. The farm is in good order, title clear, and is located in the very centre of Juneau Co. The sale will be at ten o'clock, and the said farm is to be sold off at cash.

Lecture.—The Rev. Jesse B. Ferguson, the distinguished Southern orator from Nashville, Tenn., will lecture on Progressive Reform, this Wednesday evening at Bowman's new Hall, near the Custom House, at 8 o'clock. The public are respectfully invited. He will also lecture on Sunday next at 3 and 8 o'clock P. M.

For the East.—The upper cabin screw steamer Wenona, Capt. John Huff, leaves the Milwaukee and Mississippi Dock, this morning at 10 o'clock for Buffalo and intermediate ports. For passage, apply at the Company's office, foot of East Water street. Griffin & Flint, Agents Horse Railroad Defeated.—The ordinance for a horse railroad from Walker Point to North Point, was defeated Monday night by the Board of Aldermen: ayes, 4, noes 3. According to the ruling of the Mayor a majority of the Board (not of the members present, was necessary to pass it.

Wanted to Exchange.—J. S. Fillmore wants to exchange ten acres of land, with fruit trees, house, barn, &c., within one mile of city limits, in a good location, for a house and lot in the 7th Ward, and will pay some cash also.

The assertion that Van B. Snead, the next editorial poet, had written to Ponerot enquiring if he had any of the Rector's productions on hand, is contradicted.

During this year, which is becoming memorable for the frequency of its railroad disasters and other calamities by which so many precious lives are immolated upon the altars of a false economy, or an utter selfishness, we feel it to be the duty of the press to use its efforts to awaken an interest in the subject of life insurance. This is a combination of a benevolent and a savings institution, which not only enlists the sympathies of the philanthropic, but renders to all its patrons a full equivalent for all their investments.

To those unacquainted with the system, we would describe it in a few words as the association of individuals who "invest," in quarterly, annual, or single instalments, a certain sum of money, (determined proportionately to their respective ages by a careful computation from the most accurate tables of mortality,) for the benefit of their surviving widows, children, friends, or creditors. This money is taken by the Company and invested as safely and profitably as possible, and with the accommodations upon it paid to the proper persons, upon the death of one of the members, in such amounts as is mutually agreed upon, those families who sconest meet with their greatest earthly loss, receiving most benefit, while experience has proved that those who are most favored by Providence receive a full equivalent in money for all their investments.

Thus, believing it to be a benevolent institution which embodies practically the sentiment that "Charity begins at home," and feeling assured that the public only need a better acquaintance with the system and its workings to persuade them to a participation in its benefits, we regard with unmingled pleasure the establishment of a Life Insurance Company in our midst. It is not established for a year or a decade, but for our children and theirs; not for selfish purposes, but for the benefit of the widow and the orphan.—With these feelings we regard with pleasure the success of The Mutual Life Insurance Company of Wisconsin, believing as we do that it is established upon correct principles, and knowing that it is patronized by many of our best citizens, and managed by men with heart enough to appreciate its blessings, and with the integrity and ability to secure them to its patrons. With the rate of mortality lower in Wisconsin and the Northwest than in any other part of the Union, and the rate of interest higher, this Company must be more successful, and more profitable to its members than Eastern Companies, and therefore interest and principle unite in urging the encouragement of a Home institution.

New School Houses.—The Board of Aldermen, at their meeting Monday night, adopted the suggestions of the Mayor's Veto Message and passed the following ordinance for the construction of School Houses in the Fifth, Eighth, and Ninth Wards:

An ordinance to provide for the construction of school houses in the Fifth Eighth and Ninth Wards. The Mayor and Common Council of the city of Milwaukee do ordain as follows:

Section 1. The Comptroller is hereby authorized and directed to advertise in the official papers for two weeks, for proposals to construct a school house in the Fifth Ward, also one in the Eighth Ward, and also one in the Ninth Ward.

Sec. 2. The said school buildings shall be constructed of brick and in conformity with plans and specifications to be submitted by the Comptroller and Superintendent of Public Schools, and approved by the Common Council.

Sec. 3. Edwin DeWolf is hereby appointed to superintend the construction of said school buildings. It shall be the duty of the superintendent to see that all the work is done according to the contract, and to certify to the same as it progresses.

Sec. 4. The Comptroller is hereby further authorized and directed to enter into contract on the part of the city, with the lowest responsible bidder or bidders for the construction of such school houses, payments to be made as follows, from time to time as the work progresses, viz:

First, one-fifth the aggregate amount of the contract price or prices agreed upon for the three houses to be paid in city orders, payable on the first day of February next, provided that the present school building and lot on which it is situated in the 5th ward, shall be sold, and the proceeds applied to the payment of this first one-fifth of the aggregate amount of such contract or contracts, in place of such city orders for the balance, if any there be left of such one-fifth part after the application of the proceeds of such house and lot as herein proposed. Second, one-fifth of such aggregate amount in city orders, drawing interest at the rate of 7 per cent per annum, and payable on the first day of February 1861. Third, one-fifth part of such aggregate amount in city orders drawing same rate of interest and payable on the first day of February 1862. Fourth, one-fifth part of such aggregate amount in city orders, drawing same rate of interest, and payable on the first day of February 1863. Fifth, one-fifth part of such aggregate amount in city orders, drawing same rate of interest, and payable on the first day of February 1864.—The contractor or contractors to give reasonable security for the faithful performance of their undertakings, and obligate themselves to complete the work within one year from the date of the contract or contracts. The city making payments from time to time in in the manner specified above, on the estimates and certificates of the architect and and superintendent of the buildings. The contract or contracts before being completed, to be approved of by resolution adopted by the Common Council.

Section 5. The Comptroller is hereby authorized to advertise and sell, with the approval of the Common Council, the school building and lot on which it is situated, in the Fifth Ward, for the best price he can get for the same, and apply the proceeds in payment as specified in the preceding section; or he may turn them out to the contractor or contractors for such price as may be agreed upon, to apply on the payment of the first one-fifth part of the aggregate amount of such contract or contracts.

Sec. 6. The city of Milwaukee does hereby obligate and bind itself, by the passage of this ordinance, to add to the school tax of each year, hereafter, and levy and collect the same, such an amount as may be necessary to redeem and pay all the city orders, which may be issued in such year for the purposes and in the manner hereinbefore specified.

Sec. 7. All orders issued under and by virtue of the provisions of this ordinance, shall be payable from the school fund, and charged to that fund on the books of the Comptroller. No order shall be issued or payment made, except for materials actually furnished, and on the work and for work done, and properly certified to by the architect and superintendent.

Periodicals.—Mr. Ellis, of 439 Jefferson street, has laid on our table the Gardener's Monthly, a very useful and interesting work to the horticultural student. Any person sending him a dollar will receive it a year, free of postage.

Mr. E. has also the Banner of Light, the paper that Beecher's sermons are published in, as well as other popular publications of the day, orders for which will be filled with despatch by him.

The Trees and the Crossings.

Mr. Editor:—Under the head of "Look to your Trees," an "Old Citizen," gets off a little growling against the present City Officers, because they have in fact, done the only decent job that has been performed in our streets for a long time; that of making the crossings, what they are really designed for: to allow the public to pass from one street to another, with some degree of safety as well as comfort; and not at the hazard of life and limb: to say nothing of the numberless carriages which have been broken at those heretofore intolerable nuisances.

The "Old Citizen" predicts that these culverts will be stopped with ice, and thus the water in the gutters will stand and kill your shade trees. This is all in the eye of our "Old Citizen," and I can assure him that my experience has taught me that when the weather is cold enough to freeze water, it will also freeze the ground, and when the ground is frozen, there is not much chance for water to penetrate it, hence no injury can be done to the trees from the cause which has so much alarmed our worthy "Old Citizen."

It seems to me that our City Officers deserve much credit for this job. I have watched it somewhat, because I regarded the former condition of our streets as a general drawback upon the beauty and pleasure of our city. The work is done in such a manner that it is but a small matter to open any one of these culverts, in case they should become stopped from any cause, and if they had to be opened every day of the year, it would be a saving still. A YOUNG CITIZEN.

Rare Chance for Business.—For sale, a valuable patent right for this State and Iowa, known as Holt's Patent Self-Supplying Marking and Stencil Brushes. They cannot fail to suit the wants and meet the approval of every business concern. Over 4,500 have been sold in New York city, since March last. Any one desiring to get hold of a good and sure paying business, will find this worthy their attention, as it is really the best thing ever offered in Milwaukee for the money asked. Call and examine its merits at the Walker House, from 9 until 12 A. M. and from 3 until 6 P. M. this day. I will exchange in part for lands if desired.

TELEGRAPH!

REPORTED BY THE N. Y. ASSOCIATED PRESS FOR THE DAILY SENTINEL.

Fire at Washington.

Washington, Aug. 16.—3 P. M.

The extensive machine, blacksmith and sawing shops of the capitol extension works, were destroyed by fire, which commenced about 3 1-2 o'clock this morning. The origin of the fire has not been ascertained, but it is supposed to have been accidental. The buildings were comparatively of little value but the machinery contained in them was very expensive, including the lathe for turning the immense stone columns for the public buildings, powerful engines and tools, and a large quantity of costly marble, finished and unfinished, has been destroyed. The loss is variously estimated at from fifty to sixty thousand dollars. There was no insurance upon any portion.

Freight Arrangements between the Four Trunk Lines.

New York, Aug. 16—3 P. M.

The agents of the four trunk lines have agreed upon an advanced freight schedule to take effect to-day. The advance is on first and second class Western bound freight on a basis of 125 to Cincinnati, and .180 to St. Louis, by first class.

We hear that a Convention is to be held at Niagara, some time this week or next, for the purpose of establishing a permanent arrangement, when the present preliminary schedule will be confirmed, if not further advanced.

LATEST NEWS!

BY LAST NIGHT'S REPORT

Later from Pike's Peak.

Leavenworth, Aug. 15.—9 P. M.

The Denver City Express of the 8th, arrived this morning. A nugget of gold weighing 56 pennyweights was taken from the Nevada Gulch. Rich diggings have been discovered at the head waters of the Bayou Salida.

Extravagant reports still continue to come from Colorado. A newspaper is issued at Mountain City.

The State Convention, sitting at Auraria, adjourned after having framed a State Constitution, the features of which are not given. Boundaries: lat. 37 to 43, Long. 8 to 10. There is a division of sentiment as to the propriety of a State organization, and the Convention voted to submit the question of Territorial or State organization at the same time.

Mexican Affairs.

Washington, Aug. 16—9 P. M.

Letters from Juarez, on Constitutional government, just received here, allude, with great satisfaction, to the favor with which the decree for the naturalization of Church property was everywhere received, even in the city of Mexico.

Gen. De Pallado is at San Luis, Potosi. He has, it is supposed, about nine thousand troops under his command, preparing to march on the city of Mexico.—Arms and ammunition are constantly being received by the Liberalists.

Senor Mata, who has just returned from New York has concluded a contract for materials of war, which will without unecessary delay be forwarded to Mexico.

Mr. Whitehead, who was banished from Mexico, where he had resided for many years, will soon return to England, in behalf of the British bond-

Republican State Convention.

A Republican State Convention will be held at the City of Madison, in the Assembly Hall of the Capitol on Wednesday, the 31st day of August next, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for State officers to be supported by the party at the ensuing general election; and to transact any other business that may properly come before it.

As the subject of selecting delegates to the next National Convention may be entertained and acted on by the Convention, it is suggested that the people in their primary caucuses, and the district conventions make such expression as will intimate to their delegates and the State Convention, the general sentiment of the State on that subject.

Each Assembly District will be entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

It is recommended that District Conventions for the selection of delegates be held throughout the State, on or before the 25th day of August, and that committees make early calls for that purpose; and it is especially urged that every district be duly represented in the Convention.

A Letter from Mr. McGregor.

We publish, this morning, a letter from JOHN P. MCGREGOR in answer to the slanderous attack made upon him in the communication signed by N. CLEVELAND and published in the Sentinel of Saturday last. The reply of Mr. MCGREGOR to the charges of Mr. CLEVELAND, is entirely conclusive; and none who know Mr. MCGREGOR will question the truth of what he states.

STATE EXPENSES.—An article under this head, which we copy from the Madison Journal, is worthy of general perusal. It is of special interest to tax-payers, and signally illustrates the substantial benefits of a Republican Administration.

The Administration and the Slave Trade.

The Pensacola (Florida) Observer, noticing the statement, recently announced, that a cargo of six hundred Africans had been landed on the Florida coast, near Smyrna, says:

> The above intelligence, we are assured by Col. E. H. Blackburn, U. S. Marshal, is true, as he has received letters conveying the said intelligence and stating these facts. But how can it be expected that the party charged by the law will be arrested when the U. S. Marshal is denied the power and means of doing so? If this official was vested with sufficient power and provided with ample means, to be applied for to the proper authorities) he would, perhaps, have been able to prevent such violation of law; but, as it is, with his limited power and want of means, it is almost impossible.
> We further understand that the vessel which brought these Africans to our coast, as soon as the landing was effected, was set on fire and abandoned to the elements.

This, says the Albany Evening Journal, "is a significant confession. United States Marshal BLACKBURN cannot arrest these Pirates, because the General Government has 'denied him the power and means of doing so!' The result is that the law is violated with impunity. It has been apparent from the first that the Administration has no wish to put itself out of the way to prevent or to punish this crime. Where arrests have been made, the parties have been treated as gingerly as if merely guilty of the most trifling misdemeanor. District Attorneys, Judges and Juries all apparently conspire together to prove them heroes rather than pirates, and to secure for them gold medals rather than the gallows."

The Oregon Election.

The Oregonian, which is the especial organ of the sham Democracy, just before the late election, thus appealed to its readers:

> "If Mr. Logan is elected to Congress, and is true to himself, or to the party that nominated him, and the election of a Democrat shall come before the House, he must cast the vote of the State of Oregon for Mr. Seward. No man, therefore, who does endorse the present aggressive, negro-equality, revolutionary, and disunion doctrines of Mr. Seward, ought to vote for Mr. Logan, or fail to vote for the democratic nominee."

The official result of the election in the county where this appeal was made (Multnomah) is given in the subsequent number of the Oregonian, as follows: Logan, 563, Stout, 434.

The reported result in the State is eighty-one majority for Mr. LOGAN. Should this prove to be true, it not only adds one more to the Republican phalanx in the next Congress, but secures the vote of Oregon for the Republican candidate, should the election of President go to the House.

SOUTHERN VIEW OF THE LATE ELECTIONS.—The Charleston (S. C.) News, a Democratic journal, commenting upon the recent elections, says: "In Alabama the Democrats have carried the Governor and all the members of Congress—but there is the success of the Southern Rights Democracy." In other words, it is emphatically a slave code and slave trade triumph.

The News remarks on the results in other Southern States:

> "In Tennessee, Kentucky and North Carolina, the opposition (those who oppose and resist the domination of Democracy as a national party,) seem to have had unexpected and significant success. The truth is, the Democrats in these States have paltered with the people on the matter of legal protection to slave property in the territories, and have equivocated on their rights by shirking the issue against the Douglas' squatter sovereignty and non-protection dogma. On the other hand the opposition took bold Constitutional and Southern ground, and denounced the political cheatery and aggression in practice, whereby Southern citizens and their property have been virtually expelled from the public domain, and their influence excluded from Territorial legislation and from the formation of the Constitutions under which new States have lately been, or will be admitted."

AMERICAN HORSES IN ENGLAND.—It appears from the Liverpool papers of Saturday, 30th ult., that Mr. TEN BROECK's American horse Stark, (the winner of the Goodwood stakes) was the victor of the race for the Bentinick memorial stakes, valued at one thousand sovereigns. Fifteen horses ran, and Prioress was third. Mr. TEN BROECK is reported to have won £25,000 by his horse beating the field for the Goodwood stakes.

The Nursery stakes, also ran for on Friday, were won by Mr. TEN BROECK's two year old Umpire.

The success of Mr. TEN BROECK, with his American horses, seems to have taken John Bull almost as much by surprise, as did the victory of the America, at the famous sailing match of the British and foreign yachts, a few years ago. The report that Mr. TEN BROECK won $125,000 on Stark, at the Goodwood races, does not seem so incredible, when the fact is remembered that the odds against Stark were one hundred to six.

THE "GREAT EASTERN."—The English papers report that the engines of this big ship are now erected, the propeller is in its place, and the floats are on the paddle-wheels. The machinery, indeed, is so far complete that steam has been got up to try the accuracy of the bearings and so forth. Of her six masts, the first, fifth and sixth are in and rigged. The carpenters having put up the deck bulwarks, the painters are giving the boards the first coat. In a short period the Great Eastern will be coaled and provisioned, and ready to take her trial trip to sea.

SERVED HIM RIGHT.—The Grand Commander of the Lodge of Sons of Malta in Syracuse, has received official notice of the expulsion of the Hon. DANIEL E. SICKLES from the Order. It is said that the gravest charge pref-rred against SICKLES, and which led to his expulsion, was the killing of KEY, who, at the time of his death, was the G. R. J. A. of the Washington Lodge.

THE FEELING IN ITALY.—The Paris correspondent of the London Morning Star, says:

> "The news received from Italy by private letter are not of the best. From Genoa a young officer writes home that the French soldiers are subject to every kind of taunt and insult in the streets, and in the paint shops, the portraits of the Emperor, which had become so popular, have also disappeared to give place to the likeness of Orsini, which has become more popular still."

Foreign Correspondence of the Sentinel.

The Italians and the Peace—Kossuth—Garibaldi—&c., &c., &c.

MADONNA, July 21st, 1859.

Since I wrote you last, under date of July 8th, many things have happened, which nobody could and indeed nobody did foresee.—When the armistice was a surprise to many people, the peace, concluded a few days afterwards between the two Emperors, completely stunned everybody and especially so the diplomatists, who had imagined peace never could be made without their interference and their all-important services. That peace has satisfied nobody, excepting the holders of Austrian stocks, mockingly called "metalliques," and perhaps the King of Sardinia, who, although treated like a schoolboy by his master, has received Lombardy for a present. The French army is discontented, because they have been stopped midway in their course of victory, at a time when they deemed themselves invincible, and before having finished their task. They, victorious as they were in three battles, have now the feeling of a beaten army, and they owe that depressing and disheartening feeling only to their Emperor. Many of their officers, mad with anger and rage, have broken their swords and torn down their epaulettes and orders; so I understand from eye-witnesses. Discontented to the utmost are the whole Italian people, who expected to become free and independent by the assistances of their "generous" ally, and really have gained nothing by all their sacrifices of blood and money. Poor Venice remains in the claws of the Austrian double-headed eagle; Parma, Modena and Tuscany, which had freed themselves from their little despots, have to take them back as a present from their French liberator; those cities of the Papal States, that had declared their independence, are to be subjugated and bent down again under the iron rule of their "holy father;" Lombardy has exchanged an Emperor for a King, and Sardinia a liberal ministry for one agreeable and obedient to the French Emperor, and therefore of course more despotic. But what is the best thing of the whole wonderful arrangement—the Pope is to be President of the whole Italian confederation; that very same Pope, who is hated by his "own" people nearly as much, as the tyrant of Naples by his, and whose tyrannical government can be kept up only by a French army and Swiss mercenaries.

One of the most important questions just now is: who will perform all those enviable services, emanating from the two Emperors' peace, as for instance subjugating the Papal States, Tuscany, Modena and Parma to their "rightful sovereigns?" The King of Sardinia will not dare to perform that hangman's business. He has lost so much in the estimation of the Italian people, that he can not risk any more of that kind, without risking his crown and life. And even if he was willing, his army would not march, but rather turn against him. The French army, I sincerely believe, would do the same. They are too proud to change their character of liberators within a few days to that of oppressors. So there will be no other means left to the Emperor of the French, than to entrust that executive business to his new allies, the Austrians, who will perform it without hesitation, nay, with the greatest pleasure.

Discontented farther are the Hungarians and their leader, LOUIS KOSSUTH. Poor KOSSUTH! He only served the French Emperor, who knows how to use everybody and everything, as a bugbear against the Emperor of Austria. Full of confidence in that man, who has betrayed everybody, KOSSUTH buried his enmity against him and came to Italy, where he was entrapped by promises and by the permission of forming a Hungarian legion. Then he was shown from afar to the terrified FRANCIS JOSEPH, who has not forgotten yet that in 1849 he would have been thrown down to the ground and been deprived of his crown, and all his property in lands and people by the Hungarians, if a Russian army had not saved him just in time, and after having served in that way the bugbear was put back again "in the sack." Poor KOSSUTH! To trust an Emperor, the "murderer of two republics," for assistance in founding a third one!

Discontented is the Austrian army and that part of the Austrian people, adhering to the Government and to the idea of a powerful Austrian Empire. The army, because they always had been beaten, and just at that time were full of hope, aided by their fortresses, to regain victory and their military honor; when that hope suddenly was annihilated by a hasty peace. The people, because they could not see the necessity of giving up Lombardy, when there was still a powerful army in the field, in a very favorable position, between four strong fortresses, near to all its resources and to its reinforcements, and quite able to give the enemy another decisive battle, with a very good chance of success.

Discontented are all those German States, which deem Austria a specific German power and their principal support—discontented because they regard weakening that power the same as weakening themselves.

Discontented is European diplomacy,—is England, Russia and Prussia, because they expected peace could not be made without their assistance, when the two belligerent powers concluded a peace of their own, and disposed of Italy as they pleased, without asking anybody else, usurping in that way a power uncommon, and never sanctioned in Europe since 1815.

But the Emperor NAPOLEON has fulfilled his promise and gained a farther step to that object, which he proposed long ago to himself. That object is nothing short of making all the great European powers, one after the other, feel his superiority, and of gaining the most prominent and most influential position in the council of the European nations, without ever running too great a risk. He commenced by humiliating Russia, and showing at the same time his superiority to England. Now he has done the same with Austria, and the next one in turn will be Prussia. When Prussia will have demobilized her army again, the French Emperor very soon will seek and find an opportunity of making war against her. Prussia will only have a few of the Northern German States on her side, and, no doubt, will be beaten, to the greatest pleasure of Austria. Perhaps the latter power on that occasion may receive a compensation for lost Lombardy. There are only two dangers NAPOLEON has to dread and to avoid in his course—another "holy alliance" and—the revolution. He is a very able helmsman, but sooner or later, he will lose his game by one or the other of those powers.

The place where this communication is dated, is situated on Sardinian soil, very near Tirano and the border of Switzerland. A part of GARIBALDI's soldiers are quartered here. Their number is not diminished since the conclusion of peace, but rather increased. Where the General himself may be, nobody can tell me. As my principal object in taking this road was to see him, and as the people around here are very poor of news, I intend to start to-morrow for Milan.

The Swiss Federal Council—the executive authority—has laid before the Federal Congress a new bill for suppressing the enlisting and serving of Swiss citizens in foreign armies. The bill punishes those favoring or supporting such enlistment, in any way, by imprisonment from three to twelve months, and a fine of from 100 to 1,000 francs, and those enlisted and serving in foreign armies by one month's imprisonment and the loss of their political rights for a term of ten years. In all probability that bill will pass.

That part of Switzerland which I have seen is beautiful beyond description. Every friend of Nature ought to see that country, where he has a thousand chances of admiring at once its beauty and grandeur. I traveled alternately on railroads, on steamboats and on a mail-coach, but mostly on foot. All those traveling opportunities are in excellent order—the last named, so far as the feet and legs of the traveler do not impede—and so is the telegraph and mail service, which are both united in the hands of the Federal Government. Telegraphic despatches of twenty-five words, through the whole of Switzerland have a uniform rate of one franc, or nineteen cents American money. The last part of Switzerland, which I traveled on foot, from Lamaden, in the Engiadina valley, down to the place where I am now, unites all kinds of views and climates in a very short space. Lamaden is situated about 6,000 feet above the level of the sea. From there you ascend up to the height of the Bernida Pass, 7,800 feet, and descend again, within a few hours, down to the Valtellina, the absolute elevation of which is nearly 3,000 feet. On the Bernina Pass the traveler is surrounded by nothing but mountain tops, from 10,000 to 14,000 feet high and covered with everlasting snow, intermingled with steep, black and gray granite rocks, glaziers, and huge fragments of a down gone world. The vegetation consists exclusively of a few crippled fir trees, of grass, herbs, Alpine flowers and moss. As soon as the height of the Pass is reached, a new world opens. You overlook, at once, a deep valley, at the bottom of which you see the first birch and willow trees again, and at the same time rye, oats and potatoes. So you gradually pass through all classes of vegetation, until you reach the vicinity of this place, chestnut trees and vines. Almonds, figs and sweet oranges grow still a little farther down. I expect to reach their region to-morrow.

A Letter from John P. McGregor.

PORTAGE, Aug. 13th, 1859.

Rufus King, Esq., Editor Daily Sentinel:

DEAR SIR:—I notice in your issue of the 12th inst., an "article" intended for political consumption in the "rural districts." It is evidently the partnership production of JOSIAH A. NOONAN and NEWCOMB CLEVELAND; the first furnishing for its fabrication, the brains and the malice—both of excellent quality—and the other providing the raw material and the character—the latter somewhat damaged. Now I see no reason to doubt that when Mr. CLEVELAND was following his original and highly honorable calling in New York, he was engaged in a sphere of usefulness that he adorned; but I submit that when he attempts to add to the reputation he has acquired, as a "Western Banker and Railroad Man," the character of a literary light, by pretending to be the author of communications he never composed, he is getting out of his line and is making himself a fair subject for indictment for "false pretences" in the High Court of HERNIA. When brought to the bar of that Court, how would he like to have the partnership weapons turned against him? How would he like to have the terrible Chief Justice BROWN interrogate him in this manner:

"Have you in the last six months pretended to be the author of 20,000 articles that you did not write?" "If you have not signed 20,000 such articles, please to state how many you have signed and for what purpose?" "As I see JOSIAH A. NOONAN is mixed up in your affairs, and it has been intimated that he wrote those 20,000 articles, please to state how many he did write, and for what purpose.

It is plain that if treated in this manner he would be at once convicted, and would suffer the extreme penalty of the law, as administered in the aforesaid Court.

I am pleased to see, if one may be allowed to judge from the internal evidence of the article, that Mr. NOONAN has turned his attention to the study of law. With his abilities and experience, he will readily find departments in that profession in which he is well fitted to shine. As an "organizer of testimony" he would be hard to equal. But he must pursue his studies. At present he has only attained to the position of a first rate pettifogger. The luminous logic with which he proves, that, because I was mistaken in a point of law, therefore, I was not to be believed in a statement of fact, is eminently worthy the Court of Justice Shallow, and of no other place.

But I was not mistaken in a point of law; therefore I am to be believed in a statement of fact.

Mr. NOONAN is respectfully solicited to bring his powerful intellect to bear on these two propositions, and when he gets the focus adjusted, to turn them over and exercise his mind on them until he is perfect master of the logic involved.

In his eagerness to follow me up, he places his co-partner, the President of the La Crosse and Milwaukee Railroad Co., as he delights to be called, in a very unpleasant predicament. If, as Mr. NOONAN contends, the sale under the third mortgage, did as he expresses it, "wipe out and extinguish the stock," and "all rights of the stockholders," what, I should like to know, is Mr. CLEVELAND President of? What did those millions of proxies he held represent? Shadows all. What excuse can he make for inveigling an ardent Southern gentleman into investing his funds in a stock that had no existence; and that at the extravagant rate of three fourths of a cent for a dollar?

But I hasten to relieve Mr. CLEVELAND from a position that must be so very distressing to him.

I did not put him there, and if it will be any consolation I will readily admit that under the Third Mortgage sale, the stockholders have the right of redemption; that under a judgment sale they would have the right of reversion. I never said otherwise; my statement was, that the stockholders would be just as effectually cut off in the one case as the other—and so in practice they would; and every body believes it. No man in the State believes that if NEWCOMB CLEVELAND had obtained possession of the La Crosse Railroad by virtue of a sale under his judgment, that the stockholders, as such, would ever have regained so much of the road as a single splinter of the iron. Whatever the legal rights might be the "logic of things" is against it.

But enough of this. You, Mr. Editor, and the old residents of Milwaukee, who have known me well for the last thirteen years, who have known Mr. NOONAN, still longer, and Mr. CLEVELAND quite long enough, understand perfectly that an answer in the above strain is all this attack on me deserves; or to State it more correctly, you know that it deserves no reply at all.

You are convinced, I am sure, that no act of my life gave the least excuse for this joint attempt to defame me. But some to whom the parties are not known, may think a sober denial necessary. I therefore say that the article in question is a tissue of falsehoods from beginning to end. There is a sprinkling of facts introduced among the falsehoods in about the same proportion, and for the same purpose that hair is mixed with plasterer's mortar—to make the mass stick. They attempt to mix me up with matters that occurred before I was a director; they pretend to hold me responsible for actions that they know I opposed with all my might. So far as that article charges or insinuates on my part, any corrupt, improper or unfair conduct as a director, it is absolutely false in every particular, and without any reserve.

I propose to take up and answer but one of the charges, and that must be taken as a fair sample of the gratuitous falsehood and malice of the whole. It is insinuated and charged that I have improperly received, or some one in trust for me, $20,000, or some other amount, of third mortgage Bonds.

There were three suits brought, and an injunction obtained in each, restraining the sale under the third mortgage. One by EDWIN TOWNSEND, in the Circuit Court for Milwaukee County, before Judge MCARTHUR—one by EDWIN TOWNSEND and others, in Dodge County, before Judge SLOAN, and one by NEWCOMB CLEVELAND, in Columbia County, before Judge ORTON. I do not remember distinctly as to the first suit, and believe I had no personal connection with it; but in the last two cases the complaint in each, charged that the third mortgage was fraudulent, that Mr. SMITH and myself were colluding fraudulently with other directors, to foreclose the mortgage, and that we had each corruptly received a large amount of third mortgage bonds, or that some person had received them in trust for us.

These charges were drawn, not by lawyers, but by good lawyers, were shapen with legal acuteness and variation, and were pretended to be sustained by the hearsay affidavits of NEWCOMB CLEVELAND and his coadjutors. In both these cases Mr. SMITH and myself, on our several oaths, solemnly met these charges and denied them fully, flatly and particularly. No particle of proof was ever brought to sustain them, nor so far as I am concerned (Mr. SMITH is able to speak for himself) can a particle of such proof ever be brought, for the simple reason that there was never the slightest foundation, in fact, for such a charge.

Besides meeting these charges, our affidavits gave a full and particular account of the issue and disposition of the third mortgage Bonds, so far as we had any knowledge or information. And all this was personally well known to Mr. CLEVELAND, when he again put his hand to the disproved falsehood. In each of these suits the injunction was dissolved just as soon as a hearing was had; so I suppose that the different Judges saw fit to believe Mr. SMITH and myself, and that seems to be Mr. CLEVELAND's main grievance. He seems to think that as good citizens, and for the purpose of furthering his ends, we were bound to admit, contrary to the truth, that we were engaged in a fraudulent and corrupt scheme.

The papers in these suits, can readily be referred to by any person having a desire to investigate the subject. All the other matters mentioned in Mr. CLEVELAND's communication, have been explained and set out in different letters, statements, and documents hitherto published, and I now take my leave of the subject.

Mr. ALDEN and Mr. CLEVELAND were formerly partners; they each give the other a very bad character, and it is not for me to say that both are not right. They both commenced their engagements on the La Crosse Railroad, at about the same time; they have both met with success in their enterprises in that direction, each, I suppose, according to the measure of his ability, and to most men the best proof I can give of my fair and honorable conduct, as a Director, is the fact that I have succeeded in gaining the ill-will of both.

I do not wish to do Mr. Cleveland any injustice. On my first hasty glance over the partnership article, I concluded that his literary efforts had been confined to affixing his autograph; but on a closer inspection, I am inclined to think that the snuffling exhortation, at the end, to "Brother Stockholders," is his own original composition, slightly touched up, perhaps, by his fellow-laborer. After the real job was done, the political partner allowed the Railroad partner to tack on a business notice—in the same way that to the "obituary" of the good grocer it was added, "his disconsolate widow continues the business at the old stand."

His beseeching his "Brother Stockholders" to stand by him, to hand in their little contributions, and not to think that he could be induced to sell them out, when put into plain English, is evidently a mere notification to the present holders of the Road, that now, as before, in the case of his famous judgment, he is ready to sell just as soon as they think him worth buying.

JOHN P. MCGREGOR.

Bank Comptroller.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I observe that several papers speak well of L. B. HILLS, of Waupun, as a candidate for Bank Comptroller. I have known Mr. H. since he came to Wisconsin several years since, and can heartily endorse all that has been said in his favor.—He is well and favorably known over a good portion of the State, as a man of strict integrity and ability, as an industrious, assiduous worker, not only in the Republican cause, but in whatever his hands find to do. If nominated, I am satisfied that he would add strength to the ticket, for from my knowledge of him, I am persuaded that he would labor indefatigably for success, and in truth we require better laborers in the vineyard of Republicanism than some of the nominees of the last State ticket. MILWAUKEE.

State Expenses.

Nothing more clearly illustrates the benefit of Republican rule in Wisconsin, than the greatly diminished expenses of the State government. To arrive at a correct conclusion, as to these reductions and the steady Republican reform introduced, a few incidental facts are worthy of attention.

When the State government was organized, the total number of organized counties in the State was 27, and the population 170,000.—The expenditures in 1849 were $67,686 73, or 46 cents to each inhabitant of the State.

In 1850, the number of organized counties was 32, and the expenditures $101,885 98—being about 32 cents to each person in the State. Population about 340,000.

In 1855, the expenditures were $273,067,73—the number of counties 38. Population about 550,000, making the State tax to each person 49 1-2 cents.

In 1859, the number of counties in the State has increased to 54, and the population at a low estimate, is at least 800,000. The State tax levied by the last Legislature is $150,000, or at the rate of 18 1-4 cents to each person in the State.

Compared with 1849, under Gov. Dewey's administration, the State tax has diminished 28 3-4 cents upon each individual in the State!

Compared with 1850, it has diminished 13 3-4 cents to each individual. And when compared with 1855—the baleful days of Barstow and the Balance,—the tax of 1859 shows a reduction (omitting a mere fraction) of thirty-one cents to each individual in the State!

Every person in Wisconsin knows that the State has been growing in population and wealth, with amazing rapidity. As a consequence of this growth, new Circuits have been erected—more judges and other officers have been necessarily created—and the machinery of government extended, and this alone makes the aggregate cost of the government greater, counted by dollars, than in 1850.—But the Republican party has aimed steadily at one purpose—to reduce the taxation upon each person, as the population has increased; and they have actually diminished it nearly two-thirds since 1855!! So that the citizen who paid 49 1-2 tax in 1855 now only pays 18 1-4 cents.

Such facts as these speak louder praise for the Republican cause, and the honesty of its purposes, than any amount of theories and assertions. They are practical results, and appeal to the candid judgment of every tax-payer.

But while thus steadily reducing taxation, it must not be forgotten, that the Republican party received by inheritance from their Democratic predecessors some hard loads to carry. Among these was $100,000 of old debts, caused by the utter reckless extravagance of Democratic rule. Also, $82,258 23 defalcation of Janssen, Democratic State Treasurer; and $70,447 62 of unfunded debt due when Republicans came into power.

To carry on the government—complete the various public buildings—and pay off and protect these old debts, is the burthen they shouldered, and have successfully carried, and that, too, while reducing the individual tax nearly two-thirds, while so doing. To the query of the Democratic press, "must we endorse it," we answer, we think you will have to, hard as it is for such corruptionists to swallow a general assortment of Crows' feet, Nails, Glass, White Lead, Dried Fruits, &c., which they offer low to cash and approving customers. He will be pleased to see any of the friends of the old concern and as many new ones as may favor him with a call.

An Unconquered Rebel.

DR. LEID, a prominent Democrat in Illinois and well known to many of our readers, writes the following letter to the Chicago Herald:

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 13, 1859.

EDITOR CHICAGO DAILY HERALD.—Sir: In the letter of the Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Republican, published in that paper July 26th, the following passage occurs:

"All things human are changeable, but some of the most astonishing changes are those constantly taking place among the politicians of Illinois. I will cite but a single case. Judge Leib, who, during the late terrible political canvass in that State, was conspicuous above all others for his abuse of Judge Douglas, now heartily repents and begs forgiveness. He lately solicited an interview with the "Little Giant," I understand, saying that politicians would sometimes abuse each other, but that he hoped by-gones would be forgotten. It is needless to say the interview was declined."

This statement is untrue. I opposed Judge Douglas during the late canvass, boldly denounced his course, and should it become necessary would not hesitate again to do so, though I stood alone.

I said nothing of Judge Douglas that I did not know to be true, and do not take back a single word.

Then, as now, I believed him to be a treacherous, truthless, soulless man, who would sacrifice principles and party upon the altar of his ambition, if he could thereby attain the Presidency. Truly yours,

CHARLES LEID.

ADV. A GREAT MEDICINE FOR FEMALES.—Hundreds of stimulants have been invented and sold, purporting to be specific in the various diseases and derangements to which the delicate form of woman render her subject. The result of all these stimulants has been to impart momentary celerity to the nervous system, and false vigor to the muscles; but this relief has been succeeded by a depression and prostration greater than before; and the repeated attempts of invalids to build themselves up by these false remedies, have finally ended in destroying what little organization was left. But in using BERHAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS you will find no such disastrous results. It is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave. Under its influence, every nerve and muscle receives new strength, and vigor, appetite and sleep return, and, finally, perfect health. See advertisement in another column.

CAUTION—Beware of imposition. See that the name of Benjamin Page, Jr. & Co., sole proprietors Pittsburgh, Pa., is on the label of every bottle.

TESTIMONIAL.

BOSTON, July 15, 1857.

MESSRS. J. BURNETT & CO.—I cannot refuse to state the salutary effect in my own aggravated case, of your excellent Hair Oil—(Cocoaine.)

For many months my hair has been falling off, until I was fearful of losing it entirely. The skin upon my head became gradually more and more inflamed, so that I could not touch it without pain. This irritated condition I attributed to the use of various advertised hair washes, which I have since been told contain camphene spirit.

By the advice of my physician, to whom you had shown your process of purifying the Oil, I commenced its use the last week in June. The first application allayed the itching and irritation, in three or four days the redness and tenderness disappeared—the hair ceased to fall, and I have now a thick growth of new hair. I trust that others, similarly afflicted, will be induced to try the same remedy.

Yours, very truly,
SUSAN R. POPE.

A CARD TO THE "LADIES."

Dr. Duponco's Golden Periodical Pills
FOR FEMALES.

THE COMBINATION OF INGREDIENTS in Dr. Duponco's Golden Pills are perfectly harmless. They have been used in the private practice of old Dr. Duponco for over thirty years, and thousands of ladies can testify to their great and never failing success in almost every case, in correcting irregularities, relieving painful and distressing menstruation, particularly at the change of life. From five to ten pills will cure that common yet dreadful complaint, the Whites. Nearly every lady in this land suffers from that complaint. The above pill has permanently cured thousands, and will cure you if you use them. They cannot hurt you, on the contrary, they remove all obstructions, restore nature to its proper channel, and invigorate the whole system. Ladies whose health will not permit an increase of family, will find these pills a successful preventative. Pregnant Females, or those supposing themselves so, are cautioned against using these pills while pregnant, as the proprietor assumes no responsibility after the above admonition although their mildness would prevent any mischief to the health—other wise these pills are recommended. Full and explicit directions accompany each box. Price $1,00 per box. H. BOSWORTH & SONS,

BEAUTIFUL ODE.

BY JOHN G. WHITTIER.

This day two hundred years ago,
The wild grape by the river side,
And tasteless ground-nut trailing low,
The table of the wood supplied.

Unknown the apples red and gold,
The blushing tints of peach and pear;
The Mirror of the Powow told
No tale of orchards rare.

Wild as the fruits he scorned to till,
These vales the lithe Indian trod;
Nor knew the glad, creative skill,
The joy of him who toils with God.

O painter of the fruits and flowers!
We thank thee for thy wise design,
Whereby these human hands of ours
In Nature's garden work with thine.

And, thanks, that from our daily need
The joy of simple faith is borne;
That he who smites the summer weed,
May trust thee for the Autumn corn.

Give fools their gold and knaves their power,
Let fortune's bubble rise and fall;
Who sows a field, or trains a flower,
Or plants a tree is more than all.

For he who blesses most is blest;
And God and man shall own his worth
Who toils to leave at his bequest
An added beauty to the earth.

And soon, or late, to all that sow,
The time of harvest shall be given,
The flowers shall bloom, the fruits shall grow,
If not on earth, at least in heaven!

THE SACRIFICE.

From the Watchman and Reflector.

"There, Mary—now don't you think I deserve to be called a pretty good husband?" laughed the young man as he dropped down in the lady's palm half a dozen gold pieces.

"Yes, you are, Edward, the very best husband in the world," and she lifted up her sweet face, beaming with smiles, as a June day with sunshine.

"Thank you, thank you, for the very flattering words. And now dear, I want you to have the cloak by next Christmas. I'm anxious to see how you look in it."

"But Edward," gazing seriously at the shining pieces in her rosy palm, "you know we are not rich people, and it really seems a piece of extravagance for me to give thirty dollars for a velvet cloak."

"No, it is not, either. You deserve the cloak, Mary, and I've set my mind upon your having it. Then, it'll last you so many years, that it will be more economical in the end than a less expensive article."

It was evident the lady was predisposed to conviction. She made no further attempt to refuse her husband's arguments, and her small fingers closed over the gold pieces, as she rose up saying. Well, dear, the supper has been waiting half an hour, and I know you must be hungry."

Edward and Mary Clark were the husband and wife of a year. He was a book-keeper in a large establishment, with a salary of fifteen hundred dollars. His fair young wife made a little earthly paradise of his cottage home in the suburbs of the city, for within its walls dwelt two lives that were set like music to poetry, keeping time to each other. And here dwelt, also, that peace which God giveth to those who love Him.

Mrs. Clark came into the sitting-room suddenly, and the girl lifted her head, and then turned it away quickly, but not until the first glance told the lady that the fair face was swollen and stained with tears.

Janet Hill was a young seamstress whom Mrs. Clark had occasionally employed for the last six months. She was always attracted by her young bright face, her modest, yet dignified manner, and now the lady saw at once that some great sorrow had smitten the girl.

Obeying the prompting of a warm, impulsive heart, she went to her and laid her hand on her arm, saying softly, "Won't you tell me what is troubling you, Janet?"

"Nothing that anybody can help," answered the girl, trying still to avert her face, while the tears swelled in her eyes from the effort she made to speak.

"But perhaps I can. At any rate you know, it does us good sometimes to confide our sorrows to a friend, and I need not assure you that I sincerely grieve because of your distress."

And so with kind words and half-caressing movements, of the little hand, laid on the seamstress' arm, Mrs. C. drew from her lips her sad story.

She was an orphan, supporting herself by her daily labors, and she had one brother, just sixteen, three years her junior. He had been for some time a kind of an under clerk, in a large wholesale establishment, where there was every prospect of his promotion, but he had seriously injured himself in the summer by lifting some heavy bales of goods, and at last a dangerous fever set in, which had finally left him in so exhausted a state that the Doctor despaired of his recovery.

"And to think I shall never see him more, Mrs. Clark," cried the poor girl, with a fresh burst of tears. "To think he must die away there, among strangers, in the hospital, with no loving face to bend over him in his last hours, or brush away the damp curls from the forehead which mama used to be so proud of. O—George—my darling, bright faced little brother George," and here the poor girl broke down in a storm of tears.

"Poor child, poor child," murmured Mrs. Clark, her sweet eyes swimming with tears. "How much would it cost for you to go to your brother and return?" she asked at last.

"About thirty dollars. I haven't so much money in the world. You see it's nearly four hundred miles off; but I could manage to support myself after I got there."

A thought passed quickly through Mrs. Clark's mind. She stood still a few moments, her blue eye fixed in deep meditation. At last she said kindly, "Well, my child, try and bear up bravely, and we will see what can be done for you," and the warm cheerful tones comforted the sad heart of the seamstress.

The lady went up stairs and took the pieces out of her ivory port-monnaie. There was a brief, sharp struggle in her mind. "Somehow I've set my heart on this velvet cloak," she thought, "and Edward will be disappointed. I was going to select the velvet this very afternoon. But then, there's that dying boy lying there with strange faces all about him, sad longing, as the slow hours go by, for a sight of a sister that loves him, and would not the thought haunt me every time I put on my new cloak? After all, any old broadcloth is not so bad, if it's only turned. And, I'm sure, I can bring Edward over to my way of thinking. No, you must go without a cloak this time, and have the pleasure of knowing you've smoothed the path going down to the valley of the shadow of death Mary Clark." And she closed the portmonnaie resolutely, and went down stairs.

"Janet, put up your work this moment—there is no time to be lost. Here is the money. Take it and go to your brother."

The girl lifted up her eyes a moment, almost in bewilderment, to the lady, and then, as she comprehended the truth, the cry of such joy broke from her lips, that its memory never faded from the heart through all the after years of Mrs. Clark's life.

"George! George!" The words leaped from her lips, as the sister sprang forward to the low bed where the youth lay, his white, sharpened face, gleaming death-like from amidst his thick yellow curls.

He opened his large eyes suddenly—a flush passed over his pallid face. He stretched out his thin arms. "O Janet! Janet! I have prayed God for the sight of you once more before I die."

"His pulse is stronger than it has been for two weeks, and his face has a better hue," said the Doctor, a few hours later, as he made his morning visit through the wards of the hospital.

"His sister came yesterday and watched with him," answered the attendant, glancing at the young girl who hung breathless over the sleeping invalid.

"Ah, that explains it. I'm not certain but that the young man has recuperative power enough left to recover, if he could have the care and tenderness for the next two months, which love alone can furnish."

How Janet's heart leaped at the blessed words! That very morning she had an interview with her brother's employers. They had been careless, but not intentionally unkind, and the girl's story enlisted their sympathies.

In a day or two, George was removed to a quiet, comfortable private home, and his sister installed herself as his nurse and comforter.

Three years have passed. The shadows of the night were drooping already around Mrs. Clark sat in her chamber, humming a nursery tune, to which the cradle kept a sort of rhythmic movement. Sometimes she would pause suddenly to adjust the snowy blankets around the face of the little slumberer, shining out from its brown curls as red apples shine out amid fading leaves in October orchards. "Sh—sh," said the young mother, as she lifted her finger with a smiling warning as her husband entered.

"There's something for you, Mary. It came by express this afternoon;" he said the words in an undertone, placing a small packet in her lap.

The lady opened the packet with eyes filled with wonder, while her husband leaned over her shoulder and watched her movements.

A white box disclosed itself, and removing the cover, Mrs. Clark described a small elegantly chased hunting watch. She lifted it with a cry of delighted surprise, and touching the spring, the case flew back and on the inside was engraved these words: "To Mrs. Mary Clark. In token of the life she saved."

"O, Edward, it must have come from George and Janet Hill," exclaimed the lady, and the quick tears leaped into her eyes.—"You know she's been with him ever since that time, and she wrote me last spring, that he'd obtained an excellent situation as head clerk in the firm. What an exquisite gift, and how I shall value it. Not simply for itself, either."

"Well, Mary, you were in the right then, though I am sorry to say, I was half vexed with you, for giving up your velvet cloak, and you've not had one yet."

"No, I've not had one yet, but I've never regretted it." She said the words with her eyes fastened admiringly on the beautiful gift.

"Nor I, Mary, for I cannot doubt that your sacrifice bought the young man's life."

"O, say those words again, Edward.—Blessed be God for them," added the lady, fervently.

The husband drew his arm around his wife and murmured reverently, "Blessed be God, Mary, who put it in your heart to do this good deed."

THE SENTINEL.

COMMERCIAL.

MILWAUKEE, August 16th, 1859.

Money Matters, &c.

The money market begins to show signs of a temporary stringency, and though the demand for discounts is very moderate, it is exceedingly difficult to make any other than strictly business paper "go" at the Banks. But while this is the case, we have as an offset, the promise of a more abundant supply of exchange, and our bankers have to-day reduced the selling rate to ¾ ₱ cent. Gold also comes down to the same price.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET OF TO-DAY.—We have the following report of the doings in the New York Money and Stock Market of to-day, by telegraph:

Stock market dull, but steady. No important change in prices, excepting Pacific Mail, which fell ¾ cent, selling at 72¾. Most of the speculative securities were well held at yesterday's prices. N. Y. Central closes at 74@74¼; Mich. Central reacted from the extreme price of 74¾@¾ of yesterday afternoon, selling at 72¾ for cash; at 72¾@73¼ at seller's option; Mich. guaranteed quite active at 70¾@71, closing at the latter but Reading heavy at 44¾@45; Illinois Central ½ ₱ cent; Erie and Chicago steady at full prices. The State stocks and Railroad Bonds there were few changes. Virginia 6's rose ¾; Illinois Central 7's ½.

Prices of foreign exchange have given way and market closes heavy, some of the city bankers asking ₱1,10¾ but it is merely a nominal rate. Some large sales have been made at ₱1,10 of southern bank bills; ₱1,09¾ commercial; sixtures ₱1,08¾@1,09¾; Paris 5.16¾@5.15 Hamburg, 36¾@37; the exchange at clearing house this A.M. were 417,544,484 and the balance $19,456,320.

The money market has a very settled appearance. The weekly bank statement is generally regarded with favorable rates of interest quoted as yesterday. At second board stocks remained dull: U S 6s of 1874 sold at 107; Mich. Southern 7s Del and Hudson rose ¾; N Y Cent ½; Reading ¼; Gal and Chi rose ¼; in Erie no change.

Breadstuffs, &c.

The following table shows the movements of breadstuffs at this point for the past 24 hours:

	Flour, bbls.	Wheat, bus.	Oats, bus.	Corn, bus.	Barley, bus.	Rye, bus.
Receipts.
By M&Mis RR	25	1,257	936	....	....	....

To Two Rivers.	30	....	....	....	....	....
Total.....	122	450	....	....	....	....

The wheat market to-day, for the first time in a long period, showed some signs of returning animation. Receipts amounted to some 4,500 bushels, and sales reached about the same figure. Old extra club went pretty freely at 70c, and some new wheat, which is just now beginning to arrive, sold at a range of 65 to 70c. At present there is no inspection for new wheat, the grades not yet having been established, and until we have some rule to go by there will be irregularity and confusion in the reports of sales. The new wheat looks very well, but unless the farmers take pains to clean it well, they will lose in part what they should gain by its excellent quality. Some intended for No. 1 was offered on Change to-day, but although it was far superior to the standard of old extra No. 1 nobody would buy it, because there was so much oats mixed up with it.

There was nothing done in flour to-day, and prices are entirely nominal. Oats were active and advanced 1 to 2c, selling at 36@38c in store, and 40c to retail dealers. Rye unchanged. Barley dull. Potatoes dull at 50 to 70c. Prices of other articles remain as quoted yesterday.

CHICAGO, AUGUST 15TH.—Receipts: 1,055 bbls flour, 25,671 bus wheat, 12,295 bus corn, 2,350 bus oats, 61 bus barley. Shipments: 825 bbls flour, 24,000 bus wheat, 10,295 bus corn.

The wheat market continues active, and under a good shipping inquiry, an advance of 2@3c ₱ bu was realized on spring grades. Winter grades, however, were more steady at previous rates, except No. 2 red, which was in better demand and a shade firmer. About 40,000 bus changed hands, at 59@60c for No. 2 red in store; 71@73c for No. 2 red; 56c for No. 2 white; 59@ 70c for No. 1 spring; 56@56c for No. 2 spring; 52@ 52½c for old standard; and 50c for old No. 2—all in store. As the close the market was quiet, but there is a continued good demand for No. 1 spring—the proportion of which was much smaller to-day than previous. Flour remains dull and inactive, with sales of new spring extras at ₱3,75@4,00. The corn market opened active, and an improvement of 2c in New York, caused an advance of 1@2c here—closing, however, rather quiet. About 58,000 bus in all changed hands at 61@ 62c for canal, f. o. b.; 56@59½c for No. 1 in store; and 56c for No. 2 in store. Oats were in better supply, and the market declined 1@2c, with sales of new at 24c in store, and 26½ afloat. Rye in less request. Nothing doing in barley. Highwines quiet at 23½c. Alcohol 33c. Nothing doing in provisions. Hides unchanged. Freights plentier. Several vessels were taken to-day at 6c for corn to Buffalo and Oswego, 9½c for wheat to Buffalo; and 6c for wheat to Oswego.

The British Corn Trade.

[From the Mark Lane Express, July 25.]

The storms of the past week have done much local damage, especially where hail fell heavily. But, on the other hand, the country generally was suffering so much from drought that the rain has immediately revived the grass land, but given mellowness to the barley and increased the bulk of oats. Accounts vary considerably as to the prospects of the yield of wheat. The light and poor lands are said to be very deficient, in consequence of the excessive heat; but the deep, well pulverized loams, especially in the West, are very highly spoken of in all respects, more not land. Still, as there is much in this predicament, we may expect great variety of samples.

In the Baltic, rye cutting has commenced, and there are great complaints of deficiency, which reach southerly into France. Here, also, the wheat crop, as samples come to hand, show an inferiority to the last two seasons; and this seems likely to be the case in Belgium and Holland. The effect of the storms on the Potato crop is very interesting to observe the effect of the storms on the Potato crop in this country, but the probability is that there will be some increase of the disease. The scarcity of labor obtaining just at the commencement of harvest may be an unfortunate circumstance for farmers, particularly where the crops are weather-beaten.

Markets have been very scantily supplied, the present rates offering no inducement to growers to send freely, with the weather so variable, and the certainty that much old wheat will be wanted for mixing. At foreign arrivals, however, continue good, and offers kept reserved, and prices generally unaltered. Yet the tone of trade was firmer at the close of the week, and some places have secured a rise of 1s to 2s ₱ qr, the general averages by no means affecting with the depressed London advices. In Northern Europe as well as in France there has also been a slight improvement in what is the damage to the wheat crop in America is thought to have been over estimated.

The arrivals of the coast since the 15th inst., have been 46,400, and the business transacted was as follows: Four cargoes of Odessa Ghirka wheat at 41s to 42s 3d ₱ qr.; one Saidonicka at 42s 6d, and one from Riga by one at 42s ₱ qr. Of Maize six cargoes, at from 25s 6d to 26s 3d ₱ qr. Of Odessa barley at 25s ₱ qr; one cargo of Taganrog oats at 15s ₱ qr; one do of Millet at 21s 6d ₱ qr.

The markets noted last week were 74,065 qrs wheat at 46,900 against 91,283 qrs in 1858. The general London averages were 45s 7d on 2,816 qrs. The arrivals in the principal ports of Great Britain for the week ending July 18, on wheat and flour, were 74,280 qrs.
